Students For Compulsory Annual Fee

Abolish Present System of Nominating Class Officers By a Petition

With student votes of 251 for the compulsory annual fee and 71 against it, the annual fee will be compulsory again. The other proposition concerning class elections was passed 216 to 14.

Proposition number one will make it a requirement for students to pay an initial fee of seventy-five cents for the annual at the beginning of the Fall semester, while those entering for the Spring semester will be required to pay the entire cost of one dollar and fifty cents for the annual.

Proposition number two abolishes the present system of nomination of class officers by petition. It sets up a new method in that all nominations will be direct and made from the floor during a nomination assembly.

Bob Barry, Franciscan editor, last Wednesday stated, "With the students again cooperating with the buying of the year-book, it will mean that we will be able to put out a good annual."

Richard Nelson, Federation of Clubs president, stated in regard to class elections, "This will automatically save much time for the candidate in that he will not have to obtain a certain number of signatures before he is eligible for an office."

A. W. S. Gives Reception

All students planning to enter educational courses next semester are invited to attend an open house and reception in the Frederic Burk School, Tuesday, November 10, 1936. The open house will be held from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., and the reception at 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Persons who are planning to go will be excused from their classes from 2:00 to 3:00.

The chairman of the Frederic Burk activities is Miss Virginia Coombs; the chairman of the day is Alice Masini, and Miss Virginia Kyriazi, president of the W.A.A., will be in charge of the afternoon program. Members of the Associated Women's Students will act as hostesses of the day.

Home-made cookies, made by the girls of Delta Sigma Nu, will be served and a program has been planned.

Low Frosh To Hold Banquet

The low freshmen will hold a dinner at the Veneto restaurant, 389 Bay street, Thursday, November 19, at 7:30 p. m., according to Marge Kearney, chairman.

In addition to the dinner, a large program of entertainment has been arranged and will feature some of San Francisco State's outstanding talent, including Evelyn Fitzpatrick, low freshman, who will offer a tap-dance.

The dinner and program will be presided over by Bob Sweeney, who will act as Master of Ceremonies. Among those present will be Leo C. Nee, faculty Advisor and Coach Hal Harden, who will offer a speech.

Inasmuch as a private room has been reserved, there will be adequate room for dancing following the dinner, which costs fifty-five cents per person.

All State students are invited and it will probably be a huge success, according to Miss Kearney, who stated that "Apparently our freshman dinner is going to be a bang-up success.

"Practically everyone when asked if they are going, invariably state they wouldn't miss it, what with good food, entertainment and dancing." Further she urges everyone to come and see the freshmen go to town.

MRS. NIELSON QUITS; SUCCEEDED BY DOWNEY

Mrs. Pearl Neilson, State College placement secretary, has resigned after three years work at this position to be succeeded by Mrs. Alma Downey.

Mrs. Neilson had been very successful in placing State College teaching candidates in jobs, said Dr. Roberts.

President's Day Set For December 9

Staters Given Varsity Drag Honoring Pigskinners; Hot Music - Entertainment

As an appropriate beginning to Armistice Day celebrations, for Staters, the Varsity Drag will honor the pigskinners in the gym next Tuesday at 8:30, according to an announcement made at the Executive Board meeting last Monday evening.

Bud Decker, yell leader, is handling arrangements.

It was revealed at the same meeting that the Harlem Hotshots, who have won acclaim at recent rallies here, might be obtained to play for the dancing. Intermission entertainment will take the form of several acts of vaudeville.

Student Body card holders will be admitted to this Varsity Drag with no charge, while outsiders will be required to pay a quarter.

Following the custom of other colleges in setting aside a special day in honor of their presidents, State will observe December 9 as President's Day with all classes dismissed as a gesture to Dr. Roberts. On that day, representatives and senators residing in San Francisco will be invited to San Francisco State to acquaint them with campus conditions. It is hoped this action will aid the cause of the "improve the campus" petitions now being presented to state authorities at Sacramento.

PROM TICKETS HAVE BIG SALE

Bulletin

Junior Prom bids are on sale. Tickets may be purchased from Everett Parish or any member of the dance committee.

Promising one of the best dances in the history of the Junior Prom, the committees working on this affair declared that plans are almost completed. Big Game night, with all its attendant gayety and celebration, will set the scene for the dance.

Gary Evers has again been given the orchestra assignment. His music was one of the high spots of the last Prom. One of the new departures in the Prom management will be the raising of prices at the door on the night of the dance. Bids will be $1.50 at the college and $2.00.

The Colonial Ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel has been selected as the site of this year's Junior Dance. The ballroom is one of the finest in the city and will provide a picturesque setting, according to reports.

In staging the dance on Big Game night the committee felt that it would prove to be a drawing point for the students at the college in their celebrations of the Big Game. "We think the night and the location are ideal," said Will Smith, publicity chairman, "with the Soph Strut successful, we feel that these factors will make the Prom a bigger success."

BUILDING CAMPAIGN BOOMS WITH PETITION COMPLETION

THE FIGHT GOES ON!

Editorial

And the fight goes on! The determination of a few will not carry this struggle to get recognition for the college to a desired triumph. It will not even budge the powers that be out of the lethargy that has enveloped them when the name San Francisco State College and the word buildings are mentioned in the same breath.

This fight needs your support. It needs your name on the all important petition that will be the focal point of the attack. Unless you and you and you sign the petition it will be of little value. We must be a co-ordinated unit if we are to succeed.

The fight will go on! And it will go on because it has the backing. The facts are there to present to the powers that be. We're a growing college cramped by the lack of an adequate campus. We're endangering our lives by the pursuit of our studies in a building such as College Hall.

If the building were a part of the school system of the great city "that knows how," how long would it be tolerated? Here the city protects its children in earthquake-proof and fire-proof buildings, only to see them go to college in a fire-trap that is as bad as, if not worse, than some of the buildings that have been replaced in the San Francisco school system.

This is the city "that knows how." Yet it seems to forget that this college bears its name. That it has buildings that are an eyesore and a trap for the lives of its students.

It is to remedy this condition that the fight was started. If we can have a chorus of protests, starting with the students through the petitions, we will probably win our fight.

Dangers of College Hall Pointed Out As Proof of Needs

With petitions almost completed, the building crusade entered its third week. The second stage of the battle for the adequate development of the college will center around attempts to get prominent civic leaders in the metropolitan area interested in the project.

A time limit was working against the committee in charge. Inasmuch as the legislature meets in January, backing of civic leaders and organizations must be mustered within the next month.

Menace to Safety

That the building was a definite menace to the safety of the students has been conceded by the fact that it has been condemned for many years.

One of the questions that has long been debated by observers familiar with the college was the fact that the college was allowed to continue in its original buildings, while other schools in the State were closed for earthquake proofing.

Recognizing the fact there is a definite hazard here in College Hall, faculty members will recommend that the lockers be removed from the center of the basement hallway and that the no smoking rule be rigidly enforced in College Hall.

Attack Wooden Escape

Another portion of the building was under attack as the petition campaign got under way. It was the wooden fire escape on the rear of College Hall. Coupled with the fact that the exit leading on to the fire escape is in a deplorable condition and has no handle or other appliance for quick opening, the fact that students using this means of escape would have to pass over a portion of the roof of the library that might collapse at any moment in the event of a serious fire.

Another hazard pointed out was the congestion that exists at the north entrance to the administration building during the passing of classes. The possibility of a panic during a fire would mean a serious loss of life on the stairways, inasmuch as the entrance serves both

Post Road Tickets Here

One week from today, November 13th, College Theater will stage "Post Road" at the Community Playhouse, 111 Sutter street.

The cast is staging "Post Road" at Humboldt State College tonight, and will return tomorrow to rehearse the final touches. According to Miss Jessie Caseboldt, sponsor, Friday the thirteenth has been the "lucky day" for several College Theater productions.

Reserved tickets are now on sale and will be until the day of the play. They can be purchased in College Hall for 40c.

"Post Road" has been heralded by New York papers as one of the cleverest of current productions. The story concerns the exciting situation of a refined tourist home in Connecticut which is chosen by a gang of crooks as a rendezvous for kidnaping. However, the spinster owner of the house gives the crooks an exciting time in their efforts to carry out their plans.

A. P. G. AFFAIR JUDGED SUCCESS

Crowded auditorium, a pleased audience and large gate receipts spelled success for the Alpha Phi Gamma Chickens' Ball held last Wednesday night in Frederic Burk auditorium.

Using the old historic method of judging from applause, the gold loving cup was won by the Piano Ensemble playing "Shortnin' Bread" and "Star Dust." Dudley Diggs and Howard Brubeck were the performers for this act.

There were eighteen acts on the entire show and the performance moved along with rapidity that lent spice to the program.

The monologues and dialogues by Bud Decker and Howard Demeke between acts were well received and gave the humorous turn to the ball.

The barroom trio, non-competing, mustaches, trays and all were called upon for encore and encore.

Robert Barry, in charge of the tickets, stated last night that least $70 was cleared by the fraternity for the scholarship fund. This amount, it was said, is the most ever made from a benefit show in the history of the chapter.

Second prize went to the Music Federation Council with their Floradora Revue and third award went to Jack Martin, banjoist, representing the Newman Club.

Summing up the entire show, it was well worth double the admission, and well managed by members of the fraternity, even to the concessions sold.

The only criticism was the fact that the show could have eliminated several acts so as to make the program a trifle shorter and obtained a hall that would have adequate seating capacity.

FROM THIS SIDE

The Fight Is On'

San Francisco State is rallying to the call in the battle to secure an adequate campus and buildings. The questions now are: Can we combat the other six state colleges and their representatives and lobbyists? Can we keep others from distorting the facts? Can we convince the powers that be that we are presenting sound concrete facts?

This will be the toughest fight ever faced by the college. It is going to take every student, every one connected with the college to put it across!

One fact must be driven home. Your name should be on each copy of the petition. If it isn't there now, see that it gets there. That is your most important assignment in this fight.

Then we must arouse the metropolitan area to the facts of the case. We must show Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco and other cities that we do need buildings and that we do need an adequate campus.

The eventual chorus of protest against conditions here at San Francisco State College should sweep on the legislative halls at Sacramento like breaker after breaker in a turbulent sea.

The Program Issue

This is going to cause much grief to some on the campus. Starting today, there will be a five cent charge for each copy of the 1937 program sheet. There will be no exceptions to this rule. It will apply to those who have not secured a copy as well as to those who have lost their copy or destroyed it.

Vacation For Gater

Due to the fact that there is one definite holiday next week, and that there may be others, the Golden Gater schedule will be disrupted. At the present writing we know that we will suspend publication during the next week and possibly for the following Tuesday edition.

A. W. S. Open House

We wish to make an addition to the A. W. S. open house story that appeared in last Tuesday's edition of the Golden Gater. The affair will be open to all students who are going to start work in the educational field during the next semester.

The program will be sponsored by the Frederic Burk faculty, the Education department of the college, and the A. W. S. council.

The Compulsory Annual Fee

The vital issue is faced. The passing of the proposition for a compulsory annual fee means that State will continue to have its history recorded in these volumes. It means too that State will have bigger and better annuals, inasmuch as the financial burden will be lessened.

Ie means finer annuals and better annuals. It means an earlier delivery date.

The 1937 Franciscan

Yet the compulsory annual fee will not be in effect until the fall of 1937. This will mean that the 1937 book will have to continue the battle for subscriptions.

We'll make one prediction about the book. If you subscribe to the 1937 book, it will mean a foretaste of the things to come with the compulsory fee. From the plans of its editor, Bob Barry, the book will be one of the finest.

We can say this much. It will be an annual. It will not be a magazine. It will be worth every penny of the $1.50 price. Take our word for it.

The Soph Strut

We want to take a line or two to compliment the committee that staged the Soph Strut. One of the first dances to stand on its own in a financial way, the Soph Strut deserves every credit.

A swell dance, swell music, swell time, and with no financial headaches. That is a record that is new at State.

So we take this opportunity to compliment, Lew Morris, Frank Muldoon, and the rest of their committee.

The Curtain Comes Down

While we're paragraphing here, we might as well include King Football. For State the curtain will be drawn on the 1936 season tomorrow night at Santa Barbara.

From the advance dope, State hasn't a chance to even score. From personal dope and the records anything might happen. The team this year has been a question mark all season. First it was beaten by Marin. Then, like the "laughing boys of Stanford it comes back to take the measure of San Francisco Junior College. Then another drubbing. Then another upset when they beat Chico State. So the odds may be against them. The Gauchos may have three or four fleet footed backs. Yet don't count State out until the final gun.

From all indications it seems as tho the First Annual Music Federation Formal will be a sell-out. This year's frolic will be held at the Palace Hotel tonight with music by Bernie Cumming's orchestra. For further sales talk, see Leon Minear.

* * * * * *

No, that man with the grey hair around his temples and who played clarinet with the band at the football games is not a student at the college. He is Dr. Knuth, who hasn't missed playing for a football game as long as we've known him, which is more than three years.

* * * * * *

Last week we printed a few of the things which we dislike in this entertainment world of ours. May we now tell a few of our likes? . . . Frank Black's Theme Music for the Magic Key program which is part of his first symphony . . . Fred Aistaire's voice, which we know is not suited for opera . . . but Fred doesn't sing opera . . . Orchestras which use celestes, which includes Eddie Fitzpatrick . . . Meredith Willson's theme melody which is part of his O. O. McIntyre Suite . . . Experimenters for new tonal effects in popular music, which includes such maestros as Andre Kostalanetz, Hal Kemp, David Broekman and Mark Warnow . . . Milton Cross' voice . . . Every March of Time broadcast and every Merle Oberon picture.

* * * * * *

We made a little discovery last week and feel we should pass it on. Marks Publishing company has just published a booklet of ten Debussy selections arranged for piano. This group includes "Afternoon of a Faun," "Festivals," "Clouds" and "Marionettes."

Cahn-Notations

The "Alameda Wildcats" vs. the "S. F. Foghorns," is how the billboard reads for next Sunday's football classic to be played by music majors . . . Macguire captains the locals while Bill Garzoli will captain the commuters. A capacity throng is expected to attend according to Garzoli who will referee, announce play by play descriptions, greet the rooters, lead yells and offer trombone solos . . . Charles Horton's orchestra is still looking for a girl vocalist . . . Jack Martin is his campus representative. . . . The oratorio, "Christmas Night" by Hugo Wolf will be performed exactly a month from tonight . . . Rehearsals are now in full swing.

Freezing Changes Attitude

New Haven, Conn. (ACP)—Sir Joseph Bancroft, Cambridge university physiologist, wanted some idea of how it would feel to freeze to death, so he basked in the cold.

Describing his frigid adventure to Yale university students, Sir Joseph explained that nature dictates the body should remain approximately constant at 98.4 degrees Fahrenheit and much change caused by long exposure to cold has ill effects.

"In each of the two experiments which I performed there was a moment when my whole mental outlook altered," Sir Joseph said. "As I lay naked in the cold room I was shivering and my legs were flexed in a sort of effort to huddle up, and I was very conscious of the cold.

"Then a moment came when I stretched out my legs; the sense of coldness passed away, and it was succeeded by a beautiful feeling of warmth; the word 'bask' most fitly describes my condition. I was basking in the cold. What had taken place, I suppose, was that my central nervous system had given up the fight, that the vascoconstriction had passed from my skin, and that blood returning thither gave that sensation of warmth which one experiences when one goes out of a cold storage room into the ordinary room."

Sir Joseph declared that nature apparently fought the cold up to the point when he experienced the "beautiful feeling of warmth," and then it gave in.

What Do You Think Of Overtime Lecturers?

The bell rings, the class is ended, but the lecturer lingers on with "We must not forget that the Hopi Indians are intensive farmers; the Navajos do but little farming, living a pastoral life." The clocks clicks past the technical deadline, but the professor drones on disregarding rattling seats and reminding coughs.

An alert reporter at the University of New Mexico recently recorded one-sentence interviews from people, taken at random, while filing out of a lecture hall. What did they think of professors in this category?

"They are inhuman and abuse their authority."

"It makes me madder than heck."

"It's flattering to the students."

"They are good professors, but they shouldn't forget the clock."

"It is very unjust."

"They are o. k."

"I don't think much of them."

"They are a swell bunch of fellows."

"They haven't been brought up correctly."

"Censored . . . "

"I believe that they are selfish and cause a lot of inconvenience."

"I have never developed any feeling against them."

"They ought to be tarred and feathered."

What Is Stuff?

"Stuff is a beautiful word," writes Henry Rago in the DePaulian, "because it means everything and nothing. Stuff is what elf-wings are made of, and cobwebs, and moonlight when it tangles in a baby's hair. Stuff is what makes a man stand up in the ring for fifteen rounds when his eyes are full of blood. Stuff is what is in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, what is in the rings of Saturn, and what causes a comb to pick small pieces of paper when you get through combing your hair." Yes, this word certainly has the stuff.

ARE YOU ENROLLED IN A SPEECH COURSE?

Troy, N. Y. (ACP)—If you want to graduate from Russell Sage College, you now have to talk yourself out.

This year, for the first time, all freshmen are required to enroll in speech courses. Each pupil receives a first-hand opportunity to "hear herself as others hear her," for phonograph records are made of her voice to help her in diagnosing her own speech weaknesses.

The course follows four graduated steps — diagnosis, demonstration, practice and performance. Practice is left largely to the individual student and is a regular part of her outside preparation work for the course. Progress or lack of progress is demonstrated in classroom performances. For the sake of comparison, each student again will record her voice at the end of the course.

One-act plays, debating and similar activities keep emphasis on speech as one of the main objectives. Upper classmen are not required to enroll, but the poor freshmen have no choice; they can't even talk themselves out of taking the course.

MUSIC FED. SELECT PALACE FOR DANCE

"I am certain that everyone there will enjoy himself," remarked Gus Smith, president of the Federation, "so be sure and be there."

Frosh Team Falls Before Fast Attack

Last Friday night at Roberts' Field the floodlights gazed down on the spectacle of a fighting Gater second-string team being taken down the line by a super-charged San Francisco Boy's Club eleven. On the Roberts' Field imaginary scoreboard the Boy's Club team had tallied against their name twenty-four points to States' goose-egg. The score, as is often the case in lopsided triumphs, is no indication of the strength of the State reserves.

The lads in the Boy's Club, while not quite eligible for Townsend plan payments, are out of the "boy" class and have been playing together for about five years. The Gater seconds have never played as a unit except in practice against the first team. Previous experience in playing together is a prime requisite for smootness on the field of action.

Coaches Dan Farmer and Hal Harden seem to have dug a good end out of the moth balls in Ed Ewers, Gater end. Ewers, though still a bit weak on defense, showed himself to be a pass snagger par excellence. Ewers has the rangy build that nine times out of ten signifies a good end. This lad can also tackle with a will, as more than one ball-toting Boy's Club back will testify. It is with a modest blush suffusing our cherubic features that this sports page reminds its readers that Ed Ewers was picked to shine before the season was over.

Gordon Bolander played his usual heads-up game with his kicking a big factor in keeping the score out of the war-debt class. Howard Summers, another end, was also in the State four-star class playing a good offensive and defensive game.

For the Boy's Club, Frank Skelly was outstanding. This lad with the Irish monicker showed some classy open-field running when he toted the ball twenty yards through tackle for a touchdown in the second half. Skelly also carried the ball over the State goal in a previous run in the second quarter but fumbled. Frank McNellis, S.F.B.C. fullback, fell on the ball for a Boy's Club tally.

Lenny Colbert, B.C. half, scored in the third quarter with a good run around end and Bill McCrakan, half, ended the scoring for the night by taking a lateral across the last white stripe to make the final score 24 to 0.

When patronizing our advertisers mention the fact that you saw the ad in the Golden Gater, because it identifies you and helps us.

By KEN JOHNSON

It's nice to sit down and write about something that isn't picking people to pieces or "sticking a knife in someone's back." When the dominating male element of the school roll back their sleeves and prepare to put something over it's always a pleasure to give them a boost. So when the Block "S" boxing show is staged November 23 it will be a show planned and staged by the most active men's organization on our campus. Always the "block winners" have labored for the good of State for no benefit other than being a good servant.

Starting last year their boxing show is to be a traditional affair, bringing to the campus the leading amateur fighters of the bay area and of our own San Francisco State College. Last year, the affair, staged at the Verdi Club, almost ran onto the rocks at the last moment when the State Boxing Commission demanded a license. In order to put on the show as scheduled the Block "S" took a big loss and grew grey hair on the heads of the committee.

This year's show is to be bigger and better and brought directly onto the campus the Women's Gymnasium. In order to do this, the "boys" are donating a regulation size ring to the school, which must be paid for out of the sadly depleted treasury of the Block "S." It leads to a dilemma. The Block "S" can put on the show, but they cannot charge admission unless they have a license, which costs something like a hundred dollars. Yet the show will go on, say Kenny McGrew and Sid Trager, and we hope it is successful as last year, when all had a great time.

As for the participants in this year's show, much can be said. You will see the "Masked Marvel" tangle with "Wee" Willie Lenhardt in a two out of three fall wrestling match. The "Masked Marvel" is really a mystery, never having appeared in the bay area before. Lenhardt, hardy Dolphin Club oarsman, is stepping inside the roped square again after a few years absence.

By DICK OXTOT

Boxing, wrestling and tumbling are on tap for the Block "S" Sport Nite to be staged at the gymnasium Monday evening, November 23. Plans are also being made to introduce sport celebrities, possibly Fred Apostoli and Joe DiMaggio, who will probably referee some of the matches.

The Block "S" has donated $25 toward the buying of a ring to be set up in the gym. The temporary bleachers at Roberts' Field will be brought up for the event. The promoters of the program, Ken McGrew, Block "S" president, and Sid Trager have lined up a number of contests which they are sure will more than satisfy the spectators.

Matchmaker Trager has tentatively arranged for three-round boxing bouts between the following leather pushers: Maury Schwarz vs. S. F. J. C. opponent, 165; Billy Hammond vs. S. F. J. C. opponent, 145; Al Cartwright vs. Frank Collins, 142; "Notch" DeBischop vs. George Elzarian, 140; Ken Wilkes vs. "Monk" Delma, 132.

Another boxing feature will be Maury Schwarz' engagement, according to Trager, who has hopes of obtaining from the Junior College a worthy opponent to tackle the former Golden Glover.

Heading the charge of the grunt and groan brigade will be two behemoths at 250 pounds apiece. One of these is Sailor Bill Lenhardt, who wages battle with a man-mountain whose identity has not been revealed and who calls himself the "Masked Marvel." Lenhardt expects to pin and unmask his mysterious opponent well within the time limit of fifteen minutes.

Bill Ferem faces Ernie Dellucci, Bud Decker tackles Harry MacDeavitt, and the redouble Schwarz returns to the wars to renew that ancient feud with "Sad Sam" Goldstein in other wrestling matches.

Winners of these boxing and wrestling bouts will be awarded medals in the shape of boxing gloves. Hal Harden and Billy Hammond will put on a short tumbling skit. Other entertainment is being arranged by McGrew, Trager and assistants George Paiva, George Mirande and Mike Driscoll.

WHAT - NO GARBOS?

By CLEM ZANNINI

At this time of year it is always necessary to fill up a column with anecdotes of former years for two reasons. First to give the boys going out something to laugh over. Second, to give those coming in something to look forward to. At a rally recently, Coach Farmer mentioned the fact his football team was composed of a bunch of Adonis's, but he negligently failed to mention that his basketball team was composed of a bunch of characters.

Why do you suppose that Cy Atkinson has become so graceful and light on his feet (all of them) while playing basketball? Because of Mr. Farmer's coaching? No! Because of his recent work on the stage, because he knows how to handle an audience, and can keep his head up and smile appropriately when there is a modest burst of applause from the sidelines. And do you think that Harry Post would have been the guard that he is, if he hadn't spent hours in practicing before the mirror, the thousands of different facial expressions and gestures so that he scares any opponent as he comes towards the basket. Do you think he could have said "I didn't do it ref!" with perfect enunciation unless he had stage experience. No!

Needless to say your writer would never have been able to walk off the floor with a smile on his face and the very portrait of nonchalence when his trunks ripped from ear to ear while playing in the S. F. J. C. game if he did not have dramatic experience and know how to handle all situations.

Gaters Face Undefeated Southerners

That State will have one of the toughest games of the season tomorrow against Santa Barbara State is shown by the Gaucho's record. In five games, they have remained undefeated and untied, scoring 113 points to their opponents 12. In their last game, they downed the Wolves from the University of Nevada to the tune of 13 to 0.

In Howard Yeager, the Gaucho's have the fastest man in a football suit on the Pacific Coast. He plays right halfback and was responsible in a large part for the win over Nevada. Also in their first string backfield, there are Bob Morelli, half, Dave Pollock and Forest Gardenshire, triple-threat fullback. In the line there will be two of the heaviest tackles in American intercollegiate football. They average close to 230 pounds.

For the past week, the Golden Tide of State has been putting in some intensive practice in preparation for the tilt in which they hope to knock Santa Barbara off their untied, undefeated pedestal. For the fullback position, Coaches Farmer and Harden have been grooming State's triple-threater, Captain Bill Harkness and Gordon Bolander, substitute full. At the halfback posts, Dave Schiller and Bob Kelnhofer have been prepared, with substitutes Harold Chandler and Billy Hammond also ready to see action. In expectation of taking the field at the quarterback post, Bill Abbey has been practicing calling signals.

Titles Common For Booker

He has held five amateur crowns. He lost in the 1936 Olympic trials by a 2-1 judges decision in the semi-finals. He turned pro in June 1936 and since then has had around 12 fights. His record in these 12 fights says that about four or five were won by the k. o. route.

That is the case history of Earl Booker lightweight, who now calls State his alma mater. Booker, who comes from San Jose, is interested in dentistry and some day hopes to be Dr. Earl Booker. (That is if the B average that he kept for two years at U. S. F. holds out. It still has to face the California College of Dentistry after it leaves State.)

The life of a fighter is no bed of roses. When Earl is fighting he has a little sprint every morning. Something like five miles of roadwork. Then he has about two and half hours to spend in the gymnasium.

Booker is continuing with his ring career only to secure money for an education. He became interested in dentists and their work when he visited a dentist trying to get his teeth fixed after he tried to bite through the knee of an opponent at San Jose High for the glory of the football squad.

PARTIES PRESENT SIDES AT FIRST SYMPOSIUM ON POLITICS AT NOON MEET

New Idea Applauded by Chairman as Indication Of Liberal Ideas On Part of State Students—Four Speak

State students heard the platforms of the four political parties last Friday noon in the Little Theater. Parties represented were as follows: Republican, Democrat, Socialist and Communist.

Dr. Floyd Cave, chairman, opened the symposium by saying that State students should be congratulated upon having an open mind and hearing all sides to the campaign.

The first speaker was J. L. Weren, Stanford graduate and attorney, representing the Republican party. He said that any intelligent person realizes the "spending spree" which the present administration is doing. In order to stop this spending it will be necessary for the people to elect a President who will be able to balance the national budget, according to Weren. The next speaker was A. M. Sobrino, also a Stanford graduate and attorney, who represented the Democratic party. He defended the spending which the present administration is doing in that the people unemployed need financial assistance, and the best way to give them help is to put them on jobs and not just give them money because of their inability to obtain employment.

Miss Millie Goldberg, secretary of the Socialist party in San Francisco, represented the Socialist party. She said that the great majority of the American people were members of the working class and that they should vote for a working class candidate. In no other way will the laboring class of people receive any representation, according to Miss Sapiro.

The last speaker on the program was Oleta O'Connor, educational director of the Communist party of San Francisco, who said that the Communist party was not what a certain American publisher claimed it to be. She added that the party was interested in social security, but that it was not possible for them to acquire it unless more help was given them.

OPEN ROAD HAS NEW CLUB RULES

At the last business meeting of the Open Road Club plans were discussed for the improvement of the club. A motion was made and passed that a member who was absent from the meetings more than three consecutive times would be automatically dropped from the club. Other suggestions were made to promote interest in the organization.

The Open Road Club has been invited by Dr. Brown, Director of Teacher Training, to accompany his class on a Bay Bridge Excursion which is to take place Saturday, November 7. This excursion will be from 8:30 to 12:00. The tour will not only include the Bay Bridge but also the Fair site.

All members of the club who are interested in going on the excursion will find details on the bulletin board in College Hall. If you plan on attending, you are asked to sign up as quickly as possible.

The next meeting of the Open Road Club will be held on November 18, 1936.

A. B. DINNER SET FOR DECEMBER

Plans are well underway to hold the third A.B. dinner, which will be of great interest to all graduate students and their friends. Committees are already working to make it one of the most successful of the events which will punctuate the pre-holiday season.

The evening chosen is Wednesday, December 2. The place has not yet been decided. An excursion trip will precede the dinner. Committees are as follows: Dinner—Dorothy Mattern, chairman; Barbara Druchs, Janice Sharp, Margaret Trotter, Wilma White; entertainment—Florence Hinchcliff, chairman; Dorothy Miller, Lawton Ripson; excursion — Frieda Schmidt, chairman; Lucille Morris; publicity—Bernice Michael, chairman; Evelyn Gulledge, Lucia Staib.

The past two A.B. dinners being very successful and well attended, committees feel certain that the third will be equally as successful.

DOCTOR F. CAVE GIVES SPHINX LOWDOWN ON PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Relief Continuation Would Be Forced by Public Opinion and Only Landon Campaign Promises, Says Noted Prof—Attorney Next Club Speaker

"The denunciation of Franklin D. Roosevelt as a communist is obviously an untruth," stated Dr. Floyd Cave in his speech, "The Real Issues of the Present Campaign," which he presented at the last meeting of the Sphinx Club.

Building Story

the upper floors of the building and the lower floor.

Persons familiar with the state colleges in general point out the fact that the Chico fire would be duplicated at State if the conditions were not remedied.

In the fire at the northern institution, valuable records were destroyed. These records included the transcripts of the entire student body. Even today, it is pointed out, the officials at Chico are still trying to straighten out records and duplicate papers lost in the fire.

Here at State, with College Hall serving as administration building, the same situation exists as was present at Chico. The transcripts of the students are on file in a building that has been condemned as a fire-trap.

Dr. Cave went on to say, "The idea that is being circulated that Landon, if elected, will stop relief, is also false, because of the fact that Governor Landon would be forced, not only by Congress, but by public opinion, to continue relief.

"It would be an impossibility for President Roosevelt to become a dictator due to the fact that although Congress has granted him unusual powers, these powers could be withdrawn at any time."

In conclusion, Dr. Cave stated that President Roosevelt alone could not possibly be responsible for recovery, although he has done a great deal toward this end.

Gerald O'Gara, a prominent young attorney and popular speaker, from the Better Business Bureau, will speak on the subject, "Rackets in San Francisco." This feature will take place at the next meeting of the Sphinx Club.
